Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Tax Rate Problem Before the City Council Tonight

THE tax rate problem is to be considered tonight by the city council. Undoubtedly something definite will be known after this meeting. Two different rates are under consideration. Councilman Hall is recommending a rate of $1.08, while the city controller is holding for $1.14.

We had been hoping for a lower rate than either of these figures and are still of the opinion that a 90-cent rate would have been sufficient.

* * *

HOWEVER, if the council sets the rate at $1.08 it means a lowering of 47 cents from last year, which is a worthwhile saving to the taxpayers. With a rate of $1.08 we will be lower than Burbank, where a rate has been set today at $1.14. Even at $1.14 Burbank is not figuring as much as Glendale, for in the figures it includes 7 cents for parks and 4½ cents for sewer farm bonds. Glendale figured nothing for parks as a balance of $37,500 was carried over from last year and our sewer problem has not yet come up for consideration.

* * *

BY deducting these two amounts it leaves $1.03. So $1.08 for Glendale, while not as low as hoped for, will be fairly acceptable to the citizens.

* * *

WORD comes from Sacramento today that a temporary injunction against the activities of the I. W. W. had been granted by Judge C. O. Busick.

Technically, the injunction is only to remain in force pending a trial of the action but according to attorneys in the case, the injunction is a permanent one, and the defendants will probably appeal directly from it without any further trial.

* * *

THIS injunction is quite a victory for law enforcement. There should be no room in the United States for the "Wobblies," or in fact, any individual who is not willing to get his living through honest endeavor. The condition of things in Russia happily has proved a great lesson to all Americans. Re-construction periods leave fertile fields for an organization like the I. W. W. to gain recruits but the practical demonstration of what they accomplish in a country which they control, has gone a long ways towards convincing the people of the world that havoc follows in the wake of their footsteps.

* * *

CONSIDERABLE feeling seems to have been caused by a report that no more telephone books other than local ones would be furnished Glendale subscribers.

In talking with Mr. Fred Deal, manager of the telephone company, he tells us that any subscriber will be given a telephone book by calling at the telephone office for it.

MONTANA-HACKENSCHMIDT WRESTLING BOUT TO BE HELD AT PRESS BUILDING

Big Labor Day Card Scheduled by the Local American Legion in the Auditorium of the New Home of Glendale's Newspaper

The final O. K. was placed on arrangements for the Montana-Hackenschmidt match yesterday by Commander Chalmer Day of the local American Legion post, which is putting out the big Labor Day card. Plans for staging the events were completed when the promoters secured the auditorium of the Press building, 333 North Brand boulevard, for the big show.

The wrestling and boxing card will be held on the night of September 3, the boxing show starting at 8:30 p. m. The main event with the two movie celebrities as participants is scheduled to go on at 9:15.

Capt. William A. Loving, popular member of the Glendale police department, has been designated as official time keeper for the events. "Cap" Loving is a sport enthusiast and has announced his intention of making the boys go full time in the rounds. The Legionnaires have promised to furnish the captain with a regulation Ingersol with which to count off split seconds.

Sergeant Kearns, also a member of Glendale's finest, will referee when Bull Montana and John Hackenschmidt go on the mat. The boxing events will be referced by "Chick" Watson.

That Hackenschmidt intends to make good his assertion that he can best "the ladies' man" from Hollywood, is evidenced by the fact that he started yesterday to train for his coming match. Hack opened up portable training camp by setting out to walk up one side of Verdugo mountain. He was last seen yesterday going down the other side, but put in his appearance here again today and called on Lester Marston. The big fellow says the hill climbing is what he needs to develop wind.

Attracting about as much interest as the Montana-Hackenschmidt bout is the four-round go between Johnnie Meyers, local fire boy, and Arizona Wildcat of Burbank. The two fast welterweights will meet in the semi-final. Meyers has a record of 86 fights, losing only eight out of that number. He has never been knocked out and has been off his feet but once, Steve Dalton flooring him when the two met at the Elks' club.

Meyers is the lad who won over Ted Frenchie in a four-round go. He also fought Steve Dalton to a draw. He was given a draw in his fight with Mike Dell. In two matches with Bert Colima, the Glendale flash got a draw and lost one.

Tickets for the Labor Day show will go on sale Saturday morning at the following places: Maloney's cigar stand, the Lunch Box, Nish cigar store, and Pullman cafes No. 1 and No. 2. Tickets also can be obtained from members of the Legion.

PHONE CABLE IS LAID IN CANYON

Long Promised Service to Be Available Within Six Weeks

The long promised service cable is being laid in Verdugo canyon by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, and Manager Deal promises that within six weeks any kind of service can be obtained there. It is to serve the whole valley, including Sparr Heights, Montrose and other centers. At the present time telephone lines in Verdugo Woodlands are heavily loaded, some of them carrying as many as ten telephones. The change will be very welcome to all subscribers.

FAVOR DANCE OF SERVICE TONIGHT

An added feature to the plans of the dance committee of the social recreational division of Glendale Community Service for the dancing party to be held tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon club ballroom will be the favor dance. At 10 o'clock 200 colored balloons will be released. A novelty solo dance by the Hunt sisters is another treat for those attending. Registration with the Glendale Community Service headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce is required of all those desiring to attend. Mrs. J. R. Case is acting as chairman of the dance committee on account of the illness of Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, chairman.

Ferry Gets His Glendale Contract

It is reported that Mayor Spencer Robinson, as the official representative of Glendale, yesterday executed a contract with Peter Ferry for the paving of Glendale avenue and work is to begin at once. Mr Ferry is said to have let a contract for his mixing plant.

The contract was awarded on a bid of $157,000 and the pavement will extend from Cerritos avenue on the south to Lexington on the north.

LAMPERTS PLAN NEW BUILDING

Mr. and Mrs. John Lampert, realtors, are negotiating with contractors for the erection of a two-story brick building which they expect to start within six weeks on East Broadway opposite the Harrower laboratory. It will contain three stores below and four small apartments above.

A lot 50x100 feet on East Broadway adjoining the one they are to improve with a brick building was recently sold by Mr. and Mrs. John Lampert, realtors, to Leon Sonntag and brother-in-law who is here from the east. It was purchased for investment, the consideration being $10,000.

GLEN WILLIAMS SPEAKS AT THE REALTORS' MEET

Glenn Willaman, secretary of the California Real Estate association, was the speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Glendale Realty board held on Wednesday at the Egyptian Village cafe, with about 30 members present. Mr. Willaman outlined the plans being perfected for the state convention to be held at Sacramento in October. He also told of various changes that had been made during the past year in the laws of the association and how the realtors should go about it in order to conform with them.

There will be a caravan of realtors from the Southland that will motor to Sacramento for the convention. Pasadena, Glendale, Burbank and vicinity will head the line that will be formed at San Fernando. All of the cities and towns from the Orange belt will meet at San Fernando and proceed from there, rather than from Los Angeles, on account of the traffic congestion.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to routine business matters. In the absence of the president, who is on his vacation, the meeting was in charge of A. M. Yale, vice-president.

Mr. Whitman of Los Angeles will be the speaker at the meeting to be held next Wednesday.

FLAW IN GEM SUIT IS ENDED

In the case of Peck vs. Nelson, brought to recover balance due on a diamond ring valued at over $1200, the worth of which was disputed because of a defect which the plaintiff declared the defendant knew when he purchased it, Judge Harry W. Chase on Tuesday rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff, judgment being for $200 and costs.

SEATTLE TAX RATE IMPRESSES MAYOR

One of the things which impressed Mayor Robinson about Seattle on his recent trip to that city was its low tax rate which, he stated at the meeting of the city council Tuesday night is only 70 cents per $100.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Walter Boyle of 141 West Fifty-eighth street, Los Angeles, was the victim of an accident yesterday afternoon when the truck which he was driving struck a piece of iron lying in the street at Mariposa and Acacia, and was overturned. He was taken to the Glendale sanitarium and treated for a cut on his arm but was not seriously hurt.

At 12:40 p. m. Wednesday night Officer Claxton of the city police force reported an accident on Los Feliz bridge to a car owned by John Obern, of 3734 Verona street, Los Angeles, driven by Gene Morris, of 2943 Moss street, Los Angeles, and in which Landon Morris was a passenger. Both men were taken to the Glendale sanitarium and treated for minor injuries, returning immediately to make arrangements for the towing of their car, which was hanging half way off the bridge.

MEXICO TO BE GIVEN STANDING

Diplomatic Relations to Be Resumed by the United States

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Arrangements for resumption of diplomatic relations between the American and Mexican governments have reached a stage where an official announcement on the subject may be issued shortly.

Meantime the state department has given information regarding its position to the governments of Great Britain, France, Cuba and Belgium, and action may also be taken by them in the near future. The information transmitted is understood to have fully dealt with the meetings recently concluded by John Barton Payne and Charles B. Warren, the American commissioners who represented the United States at the Mexico City conferences.

COAL FAMINE MAY FOLLOW STRIKE IN ANTHRACITE

President of the United Mine Workers Issues Warning

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—Suspension of anthracite mining September 1 may mean a coal famine, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, warned today.

At the same time, Samuel Warriner, chairman of the anthracite operators' policy committee, declared that such a suspension would mean no more than a "slight inconvenience" to consumers.

Expressing these conflicting views regarding the possible fate of the general public in the anthracite using states this winter, the chiefs of the operators and miners remained in their hotels here, each following a policy of "watchful waiting."

Warriner told the United Press today that if his coal mines are shut down September 1 and the anthracite supply of the nation cut off, the bituminous output, coupled with oil and other fuel substitutes, could satisfy every national need.

PREMIERS TO HOLD DIPLOMATIC MEETING

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Recognizing the futility of a further exchange of lengthy notes on the reparation issue, Prime Minister Baldwin decided to meet Premier Poincare upon the former's return from his vacation at Aix Les Bains, it became known today.

THE WEATHER

Southern California: Fair tonight and Friday, except cloudy or foggy tonight and in morning near the coast; continued warm in interior; moderate winds, mostly westerly.

COLD WAVE CHILLS THE MID-WEST

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—A cold wave blanketed the middle west and northeast early today, sending martin and teal flying southward and causing temperatures to drop to the forties and fifties.

Starting in the northwest yesterday, the chilly, raw weather spread up the St. Lawrence river and into the southwest. Warmer weather was promised for this afternoon.

The unusually early flight of migratory birds was declared by weather experts to presage an early winter. The flights are two weeks ahead of schedule.

The weather bureau said the temperatures were the lowest in August in ten years.

Parking Order Is Sustained in Court

Assistant City Attorney Leslie Tarr won a victory for the city in the case against John Veilik, arrested by Capt. Loving for violation of a city ordinance in parking his car in front of the T. D. & L. theater in the danger zone between two signs at 10 a. m. in the morning. It was tried before 12 jurors who found the defendant guilty as charged, but recommended leniency.

Friday morning at 10 o'clock Veilik will appear before Judge Lowe for sentence. The maximum sentence under the law is said to be $500 fine or 180 days in jail.

BUSINESS WOMEN FORM PROGRAM

A wonderful program has been secured by the committee of arrangements for the dinner to be enjoyed by members of the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club at the Egyptian cafe the evening of August 28.

It will be put on by the Cavanah Studio and will include vocal numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Cavanah, violin numbers by Julius Kranz head of the violin department, readings by Mrs. Jane M. Whittemore, head of the dramatic department, assisted by pupils of the studio, and a song or two by Henry Cantor, who is so soon to leave Glendale for a tour of the Orient.

The cafe has made the club a very reasonable rate and the function promises to be the most brilliant the club has ever held. Aside from the after dinner program, it will have special interest because for the first time the club will assemble in this newly opened cafe.

Reservations will close next Monday. Members are therefore urged to secure tickets without delay for themselves and for any guests they desire to invite. They may be obtained from Mrs. Williams or Mrs. Baxter at Webb's Dry Goods store, from Miss Clara Sayre of the Glendale Commercial School, 224 South Brand, from Dr. Laura Brown, whose office is in the Security National Bank building, or from Dr. Elizabeth Early of 225 North Isabel.

Never will club members have a chance to more delightfully entertain their friends than on this occasion and as many are likely to take advantage of it, reservation tickets should be obtained speedily.

The full program will be published later in the week.

Coal Distribution Planned for Strike

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Protection of the public against a shortage of heating fuel next winter by insuring an adequate distribution of hard coal substitutes in case of a tie-up in the anthracite fields was the uppermost concern of the government today.

All aspects of the situation were being closely studied by officials as plans went forward for the conference in New York next Tuesday to which the governors of all the principal anthracite consuming states were invited by F. R. Wadleigh, federal fuel distributor, to send representatives to assist in working out a distribution system.

INJUNCTION MAY BE SOUGHT IN STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(United Press). Officials of the American Federation of Labor today received information that representatives of the department of justice are in Scranton, Pa., headquarters of the United Mine Workers, or were there recently prepared to ask for an injunction to stop a strike in the anthracite fields.

The labor officials declared that this information came from a source that could "hardly be mistaken." The same report also came from an authoritative source here yesterday.

INCORPORATION OF C. OF C. SUSPECTED

Officials of the Glendale chamber of commerce are now trying to find out whether that organization is or is not incorporated under the laws of the state of California. At the meeting of directors held Tuesday evening, C. D. Lusby expressed the belief the chamber had been incorporated in 1910 or 1911.

Secretary Sanders was instructed to communicate with the secretary of state at Sacramento in regard to the matter.

Fake Fur Salesman Arrives in Glendale

Earl Pendroy urges that publicity be given to the announcement that the fake fur salesman is again in our midst and making a house to house canvass. He thinks housewives should be warned against these peddlers who, he says, usually represent themselves as sailors just arrived at the San Pedro port from Russia with a stock of furs which they secured for little or nothing in the land of snow and with which they are compelled to part at sacrifice prices. They have worked Glendale before and have imposed upon buyers, who, he thinks, should be put upon their guard.

PHONE USERS PROTEST NEW REGULATION

Los Angeles Directories Withdrawn on Small Toll Calls

Substitution of the Glendale telephone directory, for the Los Angeles combined directory, resulted today in a protest filed with all of the civic organizations of the city, by indignant subscribers.

According to the local telephone company instructions from the Los Angeles office were imperative that no Los Angeles books should be distributed to patrons whose toll charges monthly do no average two dollars. All other subscribers would be required to get Los Angeles subscribers' numbers from Information.

"But Information does not give numbers unless you have the initial and the street," it was declared by one irate subscriber.

"It is unfair discrimination and I believe illegal to isolate Glendale subscribers in this fashion.

"Emergencies will arise at all hours of the night when a doctor is needed, or a train to be met or a hundred and one occasions when service is demanded and can only be gained by the aid of the telephone book of Los Angeles.

"What I object to particularly was the sly way it was done. There was no notice so that a protest could be made. A man called on me and left the Glendale book, taking away my Los Angeles directory. I thought it was for the purpose of supplying a new one. Later I called up and asked when I was to get my Los Angeles book and the answer was that since my tolls did not amount to two dollars a month, I would have to rely upon Information for my Los Angeles calls.

"Now we are paying Los Angeles rates and we should have Los Angeles service. The Glendale section is still in the Los Angeles directory. Why should we be discriminated against?

"The argument that it costs the company considerable to supply the Glendale directory does not hold for the company makes money from the advertisers in the directories."

The Kiwanis, the Rotary, the Exchange club and the Chamber of Commerce have been appealed to for action in protest and possibly legal steps to force action through the railroad commission.

So far as the local telephone exchange is concerned, it was said there it was guided by instructions from Los Angeles.

SCIOTS PREPARE FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

Now that vacations are over and Toparch Arthur Dibbern has returned from the east, a large representation of Sciots is being looked for at the regular meeting of Glendale pyramid No. 39, to be held at 8 o'clock Friday night of this week at the Odd Fellows' hall. A special entertainment and "eats" will be provided.

The date of the big ceremonial has been changed to September 5. Sciot Harry M. Bennett has been made general chairman in charge of this event.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD SELECTS GLENDALE AS NEXT MEETING PLACE

David Black Telegraphs Decision to Rev. Tinning of the Big Honor Paid to City, Its Presbyterian Congregation and Their Edifices

MEANS 1000 VISITORS WILL COME HERE

Be a Convention as Large as That of State Christian Endeavor and Calls for Union of Denomination to Handle the Guests

Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, this morning received a telegram from David Black, elder of the church, dated Asilomar, August 22, where the Presbyterian synod is in session, reading as follows:

"On behalf of the Glendale representatives I am glad to advise you that the synod of California voted unanimously to meet in the new church at Glendale in July, 1924. This will bring to our city about 1000 visitors. Notify both papers."

Mr. Tinning explains that this synod will be the biggest convention Glendale has ever entertained except the great state Christian Endeavor convention, which was handled in a very satisfactory manner, and Glendale will be better prepared than it was then to do justice to so big a gathering.

The Tropico Presbyterian church will be invited to assist the Glendale Presbyterian in entertaining the synod and the whole city can be depended upon to help in any needed way.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds and D. L. Foster officially represent the church at the synod, but a large group of other Glendale representatives are in attendance—Mr. and Mrs. David Black and daughter, Hohn Horsch and family, M. P. Harrison and family and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Finlay.

The synod takes in all the churches in California and of late years has not been confined to ministers and officials, church members being invited to the sessions. At Santa Barbara, Berkeley and Pasadena, where it has been held in recent years, the attendance exceeded 1000.

Classes in evangelism are conducted, also in religious education, church policy, church methods, mission study and all the departments found in the modern church.

Mr. Tinning states that committees will probably be appointed soon to be making preliminary arrangements.

The program will be a very representative one, as the synod speakers are men of outstanding reputation in the denomination who come from all parts of the United States.

ROTARY CLUB MAKES MERRY

The spirit of fun and merriment prevailed at the picnic party enjoyed at Brookside park, Pasadena, on Wednesday by 75 members of the Glendale Rotary club and their families. The committee in charge of the event included Faye Stone, chairman, Carl Kirkman, Ed. Phillips, George Bentley and Val Hollister.

A baseball game between the "Slims" and the "Fats," at which both claim to have been the victors, was one of the special features. Swimming in the pool was also enjoyed. Races, contests and games, without which no picnic is complete, and funny trinkets as prizes, were all provided. Mrs. Alma Kelty and Mrs. Mabel Hunter were the star performers among the ladies, Howard and Edith Bentley among the children and Dick White and J. I. Wernette divided honors among the menfolks.

The Glendale Rotary club did not take along a brass band, as J. I. Wernette was wearing an awning-stripe shirt that was so loud a band could not be heard. President George Karr of the Rotary club, who is manager of the Baldwin Shirt company, claims that it was not made by his firm.

After the excitement of the afternoon a chicken supper was put away without much effort. The party broke up about 9:30 o'clock, after a very jolly get-together outing.

CHARGES DOG BIT HIS YOUNG CHILD

C. C. Beck of 5143 South Delaware avenue, Eagle Rock, has lodged a complaint at police headquarters in which he charges that his son was bitten by a dog at 1431 Rock Glen. Poundmaster Hobensack was at once notified to pick up the dog.

THIEVES STEAL HOOD FROM PARKED AUTO

L. Griswold of 525 North Kenwood, reported to police headquarters last night the stealing of the hood from his automobile at some time between 9 and 11 the same evening while it was parked at Wilson and Maryland.

JUNIOR CLUB PLANNED FOR FALL SEASON

Tuesday Afternoon Club Executives Discuss Auxiliary Body

Establishment of a junior auxiliary of the Tuesday Afternoon club was one of the important matters of discussion at the regular meeting of the executive board of that organization held at the club house on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. J. T. Crampton reported on the junior auxiliary and the matter was referred back to her to secure additional information and report at a future meeting of the board.

The budget committee presented a report on the budget system, which was discussed at considerable length and referred back again to the committee, which includes Mrs. M. E. Plasterer, Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. A. A. Barton, for a future report.

It was decided that beginning with October 1 the secretary-hostess of the club would be at the club house every day from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the house committee, reported that the inventory of the club furnishings was practically completed.

The matter of the club luncheons was taken up and discussed. It was decided that luncheons would be served the first and third Tuesdays of the month. The price per plate will be 60 cents, and the number to be served at the luncheons will be limited to 300. The first luncheon served will be on the opening day of the club, the first Tuesday in October. Tickets for the luncheon must be secured one week in advance. Only those members who have paid their club dues may secure tickets. On the opening day of the club there will also be a short business meeting at 2:30 o'clock. The program will begin promptly at 3 o'clock.

The executive board at Wednesday's meeting also took up the question of the number of guest cards to be given to each club member. In view of the large membership of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which now numbers almost 1000, guest cards will be limited to four to each member for the club year.

As the year-book for 1923-24 is to be somewhat in the form of a souvenir book, as this is the first one to be published since the completion of the new club house, a charge of 50 cents will be made for extra copies obtained.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett was appointed to serve with Mrs. Daniel Campbell in making arrangements for the convention of the district federation of women's clubs to be held in Glendale early in April.

Beginning with the club year meetings of the executive board will be held the second and fourth Tuesdays at 9:30 a. m. The name of Mrs. Victor Killick was proposed for membership.

STILL MOVING CASE IS UP THIS AFTERNOON

The case against D. Barquedaya, arrested and charged with having a ten gallon copper still in his possession and three empty wine barrels, will have a hearing this afternoon before Judge Lowe at 2 o'clock. The defendant is said to be a resident of a borax mine camp near Lang.

TUESDAY CLUB GETS PAINTING

Exchange Members Make Presentation of Dr. Harrower's Gift

When Dr. Henry Harrower of Glendale was in England he purchased a very fine oil painting called "The Italian Washerwoman." At the regular luncheon meeting of the Exchange club, held Wednesday at the Tuesday Afternoon club banquet room with the executive board of the Tuesday Afternoon club as special guests, this painting was presented to this organization by the Exchange club, through the courtesy of Dr. Harrower. Mrs. Daniel Campbell responded as president with an appropriate speech of acceptance.

Mrs. Campbell also called the attention of the Exchange club members to the work of the Tuesday Afternoon club in regard to conservation of trees in Glendale and fostering a movement towards greater civic beauty. In accord with this the Exchange club appointed a committee to co-operate in any of the conservation work.

It was decided to hold the next ladies' night of the Exchange club the first Thursday night in September at Jensen's Egyptian Village cafe, when a dinner-dance will be held. This will also be somewhat in the nature of a farewell party for the delegates from the local organization to the National Exchange Convention to be held at Springfield, Mass., D. Ripley Jackson and George Whitaker. They will leave Glendale on September 9.

At the close of the luncheon the members were favored by several musical numbers by Mrs. Orrie Ghrist.

The next regular meeting of the Glendale Exchange club will be held on Wednesday at the Tuesday Afternoon club house.

MRS. GIBSON IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. Wm. Gibson of 518 East Windsor road was hostess on Wednesday to the members of the Wednesday club. A buffet luncheon was served at noon. Special guests included Mrs. W. D. Moore and Mrs. J. W. Reed of Glendale and Mrs. Martin, who is a house-guest of her sister, Mrs. McKee. Club members present included Mrs. Charles Freshman of Los Angeles, Miss Clara Ringert, Mrs. E. S. McKee, Mrs. C. H. Sanders, Mrs. H. L. Clotworthy, Mrs. Julia Perkins, Mrs. Charles Glover and the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Glover.

THE ONLY "SURE THING" IN THE INVESTMENT FIELD

The Advice of Honest Men Who Know, and Willingness to Be Content With Reasonable Return, Declared Only Safe Road to Assured Income.

"Success in life depends upon the investments made of talents and time," says an article on investing prepared by the Committee on Public Education of the American Bankers Association. "Future return will be gain or loss, according to these investments. That is a law of life which controls investment of money, just as it controls investment of talents." The article, which is particularly timely in these days when so many are being robbed by fake investments, continues:

In the business sense, the word investment relates to the use of money in acquiring ownership of property. Ownership may represent entire possession of property, as of a home; partial ownership, as holding stock in a corporation, or conditional ownership, as in the case of buying a mortgage or a bond. When a person makes an investment in bonds he is really loaning his money to the government or corporation issuing them. He will receive the interest which they earn as long as he owns them or until they are paid off.

Ownership of great corporations is vested in individuals who have invested money in their stock or bonds. Many people regard the ownership of the United States Steel Corporation, for example, as differing from the ownership of, say, a small workshop. Yet investors in shares of Steel Corporation stock are entitled to the same rights under the law as the owner of the workshop. In the corporation the owners hold certificates of stock as evidence of their investment, whereas the owner of the little workshop holds a deed as title to his land.

Capitalistic Laws Protect Investors

Because the laws stand for the equal protection of all investors it is possible and profitable to make good investments. It gives an incentive to work hard and to invest. The person who wishes to invest must first work and accumulate funds with which to do so.

Bonds are always secured by mortgages on the lands, buildings or other property of the corporation for which the money has been used. When a bond matures the money must be repaid to the owner of the bond.

All investors are a part of a great financial system which gathers up and puts to work the wealth of the country for the mutual benefit, prosperity and well-being of all. In America it is possible for any one who is willing to pay the price of self-denial and hark work to be an investor. Good investments made in early life by saving such small sums as may be possible lay the foundation for providing the comforts of later years, when it is harder to earn a livelihood and when poverty often becomes the condition of those who have not practiced thrift in youth.

It is not wise for those without experience to undertake to make investments of their money without guidance by those who know. Many companies are constantly being organized to promote unsound schemes, referred to as "wild-cat." There are always solicitors ready to relieve people of their savings by the promise of big returns. The lure of great wealth is always a temptation by which thousands of thrifty people are deprived of hard earned savings every year. Widows and orphans who have inherited money are frequently sought and made the targets of these fake stock salesmen. Misery and suffering are the usual results.

Greed Defeats Safety

Many people with small means also lose money because they insist on a high rate of interest on their investments. Safety of principal should be considered above large returns in interest or dividends. Small investors should never buy high-rate, speculative investments, in which there is a great risk, but should stick to those which pay a fair rate and which are known to be safe.

To know whether an investment is worth buying the investor should go to a banker or a successful business man in whom he has confidence, get his opinion and act in accordance with it. In all probability this will mean the difference between successful investment and total loss of his money.

The banker deals with investments every day and desires to give all the help and information he can, and the business man has learned by experience the need of caution and careful judgment. They believe one should have a clear understanding of an investment before it is purchased. They know the need for avoiding stock promotion schemes and get-rich-quick propositions which in many cases have brought poverty and suffering. While many states have passed laws aimed to protect the public against promoters of fake investments, thousands of people annually fall victims to their wiles because they fail to seek advice of those experienced in making investments.

Good advice and temperate expectations mark the only road to safe investment and an assured income. There is no other certain way.

The Marquis de Cambrun, the French charge d'affairs, said at a luncheon in New York: "Some people are actually declaring that Germany has now suffered enough, and the allies ought to let her off. If the allies did that they would be like the man at the party. He enjoyed the party. It broke up at about 5:30 a. m. The man then made his way out, balanced at the curbstone and hailed a taxicab. The taxicab drew up beside him and he climbed in at one door and immediately rolled out at the other. Picking himself up, he brushed the dirt from his hat, took out a roll of bills and said to the driver: "Well, how much—hic—do I owe you?"

A woman made a purchase from one of the flower girls and said: "I suppose you will be here on Wednesday? I shall want $1 worth of flowers for my daughter; she is coming out on that day."

"She shall have the best in the market, mum," replied the flower-seller, sympathetically. "What's she been in for?"

LOG RAFT IS WEATHER PROPHET

BONIFACE, Mich. (United Press).— Only a lake full of cedar logs; but the people of this city will bet their last cent on it as an accurate barometer of the weather.

During the last 15 years, as far back to the time when cedar logs were first dumped into Bass lake, along whose shores Boniface is located, this barometer has never been known to fail, citizens say.

Bass lake has for many years had millions of feet of cedar logs floating in it. These logs were cut by the Boniface Lumber company and dumped into the lake until the sawmill was ready for them. The water keeps them from rotting.

Ordinarily this great mass of logs lies along the edge of the lake forming a belt about 50 to 75 feet wide. Always within about 14 hours of a rain the logs will start to act queerly. Single logs will break away from the mass around the shores and drift slowly out into the middle of the lake.

What causes these logs to do this, or what causes the whole number to loosen up from the usual compact mass, no one has been able to explain. It is not a current in the water, for the lake is too small to have currents. It is not the wind that causes these logs to break away—they do it when there is not a breath of air stirring.

Tunnels a Menace to Crews of Trains

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—If you chafe and choke over the heat fumes entering your railway car the next time you go through a tunnel, think of the men in the engine cab and be happy. For, says the Bureau of Mines, the heat to which trainmen are subjected not only ranges as high as 136 degrees, but the smoke and moisture-laden atmosphere is often filled with deadly carbon monoxide gas.

The bureau recently conducted a series of tests in railroad tunnels in connection with investigation into accident causes. Out of 40 tunnel trips whose duration ranged from 4½ to 25 minutes, it was found that carbon monoxide was present in the air in 34 cases. Hot exhaust gases from the engines were another source of danger.

Exhaustion of train crews due to exposure to atmospheres containing carbon monoxide, or to exceedingly high temperatures saturated with moisture, was said undoubtedly to have been the cause of many accidents.

Results of physiological tests over periods of ten minutes in engine cabs showed that the conditions there might be severe enough to cause asphyxiation or exhaustion in periods of 20 minutes, in case an engine became stalled in a tunnel.

While the bureau has experimented with gas masks for the use of cab crews, and has perfected a small pocket respirator for quick use when in a tunnel, it has been concluded that the most satisfactory method for overcoming the tunnel atmospheres is by supplying fresh air to men from the train air brake system. A supply is led to each man through a small rubber tube with an ordinary funnel on the end, which, when held close to the face, furnishes an adequate fresh air supply.

TREE DOCTORS NEED LICENSE

"The state law requires that all persons desiring to engage for hire in eradicating or controlling plant diseases, etc., must first secure a certificate from the county horticultural commissioner," declares J. B. Marleau, county horticultural inspector of Glendale.

"This, of course, includes any person or firm engaging in what is commonly called the 'tree doctor' business. The district horticultural office has application blanks ready for distribution to any who wish to apply for such a certificate and it is unlawful for anyone to operate without first having procured the certificate. No fee is charged."

Mr. Marleau lives at 620 North Howard. His telephone is 361-J.

NORTHERN FILM AT THE T. D. & L.

Ruthless love pirates, men who follow the guide of their primal impulses, far from control of law and order—these are the types that play out their drama in "Where the North Begins," the picture announced as the feature attraction at the T. D. and L. theater, commencing Friday.

RINTINTIN

The setting is in the snowy northern wastes, and specifically in a Hudson Bay trading post, where Shad Galloway, the factor, lords it with an iron fist. He has cast his eyes on young Felice McTavish, regardless of the fact that her heart is already given to Gabriel Dupre, a French-Canadian trapper. This brings out the high points of the action. Shad Galloway hires a band of ruffians to become outlaws and do away with Gabriel, who is wounded and saved from the intrique only by the unexpected arrival on the scene of a wild dog, who had strayed while a puppy and been brought up with the wild wolves.

It is a Warner Brothers' classic of the screen, directed by Chester M. Franklin, with the following cast of players: Claire Adams, Walter McGrail, Pat Hartigan, Myrtle Owen, Charles Stevens, Fred Huntley and Rintintin, the clever police dog, around whom much of the action revolves.

"Where the North Begins" was filmed in the wild Feather River country, in Plumas county, California, a wild area given over to the pines and snows.

'MASTERS OF MEN' AT THE GLENDALE

"Masters of Men," Morgan Robertson's great sea novel, adapted for the screen by C. Graham Baker, which is shown at the Glendale theater today, is a real American story, written by Americans for Americans.

The hero, Dick Halpin, is the sort of a boy every American admires, sensitive to hurts, rebellious against snobbery, quick to fight and big enough to carry a secret wrong to save the girl he loves from humiliation. Dick is falsely accused of theft and runs away from home. He joins the United States navy and there he learns how to be a man. While on shore-leave he and his superior are shanghaied on board a four master and sent before the mast. They endure the brutality of captain and mate and the filth in which they are compelled to live until they manage their escape just as the United States declares war on Spain. The boys rejoin their ships and take an active part in the battle of Santiago when Cervera's fleet was destroyed as it came out to sea.

The naval battle is thrillingly presented and through courtesy of the United States navy department at Washington is authentically reproduced, the navy permitting Vitagraph, the producers, to take real shots on board men of war when stripped for action and indulging in gun fire.

The cast is an exceptionally strong one of fan favorites. Earle Williams plays Lieut. Breen, and Cullen Landis Dick Halpin, the two young Americans. Alice Calhoun and Wanda Hawley play the old-fashioned sweethearts of the two boys. The love interest is strong and there is abundant comedy running through the story.

'DOG STAR' AT THE GATEWAY

Stars have been developed, discovered, and found, but none have come to the cinema in the strange way that Buck, the Saint Bernard dog star of Hal Roach's production of "The Call of the Wild" has, produced today at the Gateway.

Hal Roach, the noted comedy producer, read Jack London's famous novel quite a few years ago. Roach is an ardent lover of animals and horses and dogs in particular. When he read the novel he made up his mind that some day he would make a motion picture of it that would be worthy of it and of the author.

About two years ago Mr. Roach had a chance to buy a Saint Bernard pup. As these dogs are now very rare, Roach jumped at the chance, not questioning the enormous price, for he remembered at once his plan of filming the London story. He named the dog Buck, after the one in the story, and put him in the care of the expert animal trainer at the Roach lot.

Now that puppy has grown to be a beautiful dog, and, under Fred Jackman's direction, has just finished acting his part in the fine production of "The Call of the Wild."

OVERTONS RETURN TO GLENDALE CITY

Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Overton of Chowchilla and their children and Mrs. H. H. Martin of Los Angeles are in Glendale visiting friends. Mr. Overton drove from Chowchilla to Glendale, a distance of 295 miles, in one day, and is very much impressed with the wonderful growth of this city. From 1907 to 1913 he was engaged in the real estate business here with his father, John L. Overton where the present city hall is located. Later, following the death of his father, he moved to a point near Kenwood and Broadway, and from there to Brand. His sister, Mrs. H. H. Martin, is the wife of Howard Martin, and formerly lived on Orange between Broadway and Wilson. Mr. Martin was one of the original stockholders in Glendale's First National bank which was then located where the present Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank is now situated.

C. OF C. THANKS SUBURBAN REALTY

At the meeting of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night consideration was given to a proposition which had been presented at a meeting of the Los Angeles Athletic club, to promote the organization of a class C baseball league for Southern California which will admit and train high school players. Said league would be under the national rules.

The promoters are very anxious to have Pasadena, Glendale, San Bernardino, San Diego, Santa Barbara and about eight cities all told form leagues. It was requested that the matter be brought before the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and reported back. In further explanation it was said that the league would carry only 14 players whose maximum salaries would be $200 a month. Only one veteran ball player would be permitted to be connected with the league. It was argued that a splendid opportunity would be provided to advertise Southern California, the advertising given Glendale through Frank Chance was cited as an example in point. It is estimated that the organization of a syndicate financed to the extent of $25,000 would be necessary to get things started.

Director Kitterman remarked if the chamber were going to take up this proposition perhaps its resolution relative to stock selling schemes would be premature. Director Gregg observed that it would undoubtedly prove a non-profit sharing corporation, and he suggested as a name for the Glendale organization "The Peacock Twirlers."

Mr. Kitterman's final comment was to the effect that the chamber is not in position to take any action that would be of value.

Mr. Kimlin Getting Ready to Meet Wife

Clarence Kimlin, city councilman and manager of the Glendale sanitarium, is trying to cut some of the strings of his various business activities and get time to properly welcome Mrs. Kimlin, who is returning today from an eastern tour which took her to Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Battle Creek, Chicago, and several other cities. ### FINAL CALL FOR WISCONSIN PICNIC

Col. Frank H. True, president o the Wisconsin folks is making this last call for the big, jolly picnic reunion in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, for Saturday, August 25. He is promising all the usual happy picnic features and invites all from the Badger state to join in the fun and to meet the old home state friends once more.

Take advantage of human nature. Human nature causes you to read the want ads every night. There are some interesting stories to read there—perhaps you find an interesting personal — someone wants a new bookkeeper, someone whom you know; your neighbor has advertised his house for sale; a very good buy in a used automobile has been put before the public eye.

Why don't you take advantage of this very human trait. Put your proposition before the public just as the other advertisers have put theirs in your eyes. Use a Press Classified Advertisement for best results.

Truths in Epigram

If I could not go to heaven but with a party, I would not go there at all.—Jefferson.

He wants worth who dares not praise a foe.—Dryden.

Praise undeserved is scandal in disguise.—Dryden.

Such praise, coming from so degraded a source, was degrading to me, its recipient.—Cicero.

BIGAMY GETS A SETBACK

The Czecho-Slovakian parliament has concluded not to endorse bigamy. Such a method had been proposed for the fattening of the birth rate. The idea was to allot two women to each man. If the man already had a wife, he got but one in addition. The measure was not lost without lively debate. Its advocacy was led by Mlle. Betta Kerpiskova. When from a gallery containing wives and mothers there came murmurs of dissent, the spirited Betta shouted "Throw the hags out." They were not thrown out. On the contrary they stayed to see Betta's pet scheme snowed under.

Betta may have meant well, although it is possible that she had a selfish purpose. The plan would have had greater initial strength had it been put forward by a married woman. Without the slightest desire to wrong Miss Kerpiskova, attention must be called to the fact that in the proposed allotment, she may have seen a chance to escape the loneliness of spinsterhood. However, as a person of resource, she should not despair. If she were to propose marriage probably the victim of her choice would be so intimidated that he would make no effort to escape. It hardly is fair, however, when a woman wants a man, to engage the services of a parliament in promotion of her amiable desire.

Probably the "hags" sitting in the gallery, have done more for their country than ever will be accomplished by the alert and fiery Betta. At least they represent a type for which it is quite natural to have respect. Betta's best chance is to leave the floor and get into the gallery herself.

CHROMATIC CHIMERA

Every little while some enthusiast comes forward with a plan of reforming society by means of colors. Each color is supposed to represent a phase of human emotion. Families quarrel, or are at peace, according to the color scheme of the dining room. Every sound also is credited with having a color; which of course it does not have. One is annoyed by the strains of the saxaphone in the hands of the amateur. This is not because the strains have color. Were such the case, the simple method of closing the eyes, or wearing glasses of soothing hue, would be a way of escape.

Some colors harmonize, and some fail in this particular. Therefore to one of artistic perceptions the plan of separating the latter readily suggests itself. But that anger dwells in red or melancholy in blue, easily is recognizable as the pronouncement of nonsense. One woman, assuming to be an authority, recently said "one half the divorces in the United States are caused by inharmonious color combinations in the dining room." She says something as foolish quite often and seems to get away with it.

Domestic rows that may be traced to the dining room do not have their origin in the tint of the wall paper. They arise from the quality of the stuff on the table, the maner in which it is served, and knowledge as to the cost of it. Let the table be suitably weighted with wholesome food, presided over by a gracious hostess, and it is probable that the man of the house, or the guest of the occasion, will emerge smiling, neither knowing or caring as to the tone of the decorations.

Certain colors do have significance. The eye encircled by a ring of green and yellow is not without meaning. The blush is the betrayal of inward feelings. But as to colors in furniture and raiment, they are chosen because people like them, and they have as much to do with divorce as with the Einstein theory.

"PRESIDENT SITS TIGHT"

The above is the caption placed over the product of a Washington correspondent. The product itself is an expression of wonder that the President has not been observed to toss his hat into the ring, and to have engaged in a campaign looking to his election for a full term.

Evidently the correspondent does not realize the possibility that the man called to the head of the nation has duties to perform, and a certain dignity to maintain. He would have been a sorry spectacle had he begun his career in the highest office by scheming to be returned after completing the term to which the death of his official superior and personal friend had called him. It may be assumed that President Coolidge is engaged in being President now.

There are men, most of them notoriously unfit, who have made known their desire for the presidency. Some of these did not wait for the Harding obsequies before they were engaged in scheming to be his successor. The exhibition was not pleasing. It has not promoted the cause of any of the clamorous aspirants. Rather, it has had the effect of turning the light upon their unworthiness, and emphasizing the hollowness of their claims for support.

The country has a deep respect for the character and ability of President Coolidge. It does not expect this to be shaken in any way by the conduct of the gentleman; partly that it rests secure in the belief that he is a gentleman.

LECTURERS FROM ABROAD

Several English writers who make occasional platform appearances have signified their lack of desire to visit the United States any more in the capacity of lecturers. Whether this is designed as a blow to American pride, or whether it involves the stern resolution to permit America to continue to sit in darkness, has not been definitely explained. But the response to it will have no note of anguish.

Americans like to read Shaw. They do not want to hear him talk. Wells has far more admirers on this side than he has in his native land. They are quite contet to have such contact as familiarity with his books permits them. They have no assurance that as a talker he could say anything worth while. Kipling is another who says that he will not come. Well, why should he? The respect for the intellectual Kipling rests solely upon his writings of long ago.

The truth is that many English lecturers have brought with them to this country an air of superiority wholly unjustifiable by any message they have delivered. Some of them have devoted themselves to excoriation of their audiences, to ridicule of American ideals, and as to American achievement, it simply does not exist for them. There is no art here, no literature, no appreciation of the fine things of life; such is the essence of their preachments. It does not take long to get enough of such insular patter. Americans have had enough. They seek instruction, from whatever source, but to be placed in the role of children, and scolded and cuffed on the ears, by instructors who hold no certificate of wisdom, has become a tiresome process, quite devoid of novelty.

The last bank in Shelby has closed. Shelby is the little Montana town that was to have achieved mighty fame and fair fortune by being the scene of a prize-fight. Just how the inhabitants had figured out such results doubtless they are now puzzling themselves about. They were to put Shelby on the map, but succeeded only in writing its name in the bankruptcy list. It is believed there will be no more prizefights in Shelby.

Of course there is fault being found with the President's selection of private secretary, expressed entirely by people who, were they to reflect, would realize the matter to be none of their business.

---

Some men are not content with being treated well; they want to be treated often.

It is difficult to convince the head of the house that two heads are better than one.

BARNACLE MOTHERS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

By "barnacle mothers" no reference is intended to the mothers of the lowly and pestiferous barnacle. No doubt barnacles perform some kind of service in the economy of the universe and so are of right entitled to mothers. But barnacles are very far down the scale life and because they lack intelligence they cannot be blamed for their clinging and destructive ways. Left undisturbed they sink many ships, hence the need of dry docking the vessels to which they cling and scraping the pests off.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

But how can one drydock a young married couple when they find themselves hopelessly attached to a barnacle mother or worse still to a pair of barnacle parents?

A frantic letter lies before me as I write and in it a young wife begs me to tell her how to avoid the destruction of her marriage and her life's happiness at the hands of a barnacle mother.

"I can not tolerate the thought of being hounded through life by my husband's parents," she cries. "Go where we will, do what we may they pursue us like our shadows. If my husband proposes to move to a distant city my mother-in-law makes her husband give up his job and they trail along, demanding to live in the same house as we, ordering our comings and our goings and directing our lives in every way they can. It's awful. I love my husband I married HIM, not his parents. How can we secure a little respite?"

The special mother in this case has one resolution set in her head like a bit of porphry in granite. She means to keep hold of her son and control him, to idolize him, absurdly and sentimentally, while utilizing his earning power.

That she may ruin his life gives her no concern; it is her theory that he BELONGS to her and that she can NOT intrude on him or his wife.

She never waits for an invitation to accompany them; she simple moves as they move after the fashion of a tick on a cow. If her son fails to kiss her when he comes home or leaves, or if he kisses her after he kisses his wife she cries all night.

Her son is totally unable to cope with her and has not the courage to break with her or run off and discipline her. The result will probably be that in the end the son's marriage will be broken and with it his heart and that of his poor little wife.

The institution of marriage needs a sentimental dry dock where the contracting parties may be scientifically relieved of family barnacles.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

I knew there was something wrong when Jim Caufield began to wear uncomfortable collars and make tight knots in his neckties. Then I saw what was wrong. Pretty—pretty as a speckled pup—black eyed, restless, energetic, pushing. She'll make Jim Caufield succeed in spite of himself. Only——

I wonder if Jim will like it.

He was about the finest young fellow on our street. Big, easy going, accurate, certain, he seemed marked for success. Maybe Jim never thought enough about money, and it is probably certain that Old Man Calloway thinks a heap too much about it. But the Old Man kept advancing Jim's salary a little at a time.

"I didn't want to lose Jim," the Old Man said. "But it sometimes does a boy harm to have too much money."

The Old Man seems to think it never does an elderly person any harm. But that isn't the story. Jim was contented, happy, progressing with a certainty of which he may not have been fully aware. The big men had their eye on him. Then he fell in love, and the pushing little black eyed girl began to manage him. She thought that Jimmy was worth more salary, and, like too many of the fairer but occasionally unfair sex, based her conviction of his salary value on what he could spend, rather than on what he could earn. Calloway raised and raised—and raised—until he reached the limit. By this time the little black eyed girl had persuaded Jim that the Old Man had been holding out on him all the time.

"He never would have paid you so much," she boasted, "if I hadn't pushed you on to ask."

So Jim has gone to a shoddy firm for double his former salary. And looks continuously worried. Better dressed, of course. All his wrinkles are between his eyes now. But the little black eyed girl is happy. He's getting the money.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

There are distinguished personages.
Officials of high degree.
Geniuses of recognized ability.
Persons set apart, either by their distinctions or their desire.

JAMES W. FOLEY

And then there are folks.

And most of the people in the world are merely folks.

* * *

Human folks.

Nothing specially in the way of distinction.

Doing the day's work every day, humble as it may be.

Laying by a little for a rainy day.

Bringing boys and girls into the world and giving them education and opportunity.

* * *

Just folks.

They seldom get into the newspapers.

Except when they are born, get married or die.

They are not on the screen unless they happen to be screened in a crowd.

Their pictures do not appear in the day's news events with an X to indicate where they stand.

* * *

They can move from place to place without the accompaniment of a score of newspaper correspondents.

Their latest actions and speeches are not reported by the publicity writers.

They may go and come with quiet, comfort and happiness.

Just folks.

* * *

They do not occupy seats on the reviewing stand.

They do not stand in line at the receptions.

They do not have to shake hands with thousands and hundreds of thousands.

They do not have to gasp for breath with wilted collars and perspiring brows, all togged out in "regimentals."

They may even at a pinch take off their coats and sit in shirt sleeves on the porch or in the "back yard."

* * *

After all, it is a lot of comfort to be one of the just folks.

Not to be chased about for a camera pose.

Not to be stared at and pointed at and made uncomfortable.

Just to be let alone to work out a little destiny, accomplish a little result and have a lot of comfort.

* * *

To sit down at a homely dinner without the constant jangling of the telephone bell, for messages meaning nothing at all.

To go on a trip without its being heralded over the land.

To laugh and to cry and to work and to rest and to suffer and to struggle and move along in the great procession of humanity.

* * *

To do all this without heraldry.

Without a blare of trumpets.

Without flashing on the screen.

Without brass bands.

Without all the penalties of conspicuity.

* * *

To observe with gladness the development of the children.

To talk over old times.

To have friends in at dinner.

To enjoy what are after all the genuine pleasures of genuine lives.

The genuine outpouring of the soul.

* * *

Just folks.

How lovable and fortunate and happy we may be who are in that class or station.

Songs of the Poets

Autumn: A Dirge—By Percy Bysshe Shelley

The warm sun is failing; the bleak wind is wailing;
The bare boughs are sighing; the pale flowers are dying;
And the Year
On the earth, her death-bed, in a shroud of leaves dead,
Is lying.
Come, months, come away,
From November to May;
In your saddest array
Follow the bier
Of the dead, cold year,
And like dim shadows watch by her sepulchre.

The chill rain is falling; the nipped worm is crawling;
The rivers are swelling; the thunder is knelling
For the Year;
The blithe swallows are flown, and the lizards each gone
To his dwelling;
Come, months, come away;
Put on white, black and gray;
Let your light sisters play—
Ye, follow the bier
Ye, follow the bier
Of the dead, cold year,
And make her grave green with tear on tear.

THE COMING REVOLUTION

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE is a Revolution coming in Japan.

Because there is a Revolution coming everywhere there is Inequality.

Not inequality of ability, strength, wisdom or character of course, for that kind of Inequality is incident to all life, and is the source of charm; but Inequality in legal rights, opportunity and privilege.

All souls seek their level (of legal opportunity) as water seeks its level.

When the sluice gates are open, and the streams undammed, the waters find their universal evenness smoothly and silently; where there are obstructions and obstacles there are floods and devastations.

Democracy means the removal of artificial barriers, the breaking down of ancient dams, the blasting of venerable rocks of injustice, so that all souls can move about and up and around and so spread the level of peace.

Japan, like all Asia and most of Europe, is cursed with the very thing it is proud of, the burden of tradition, a past of ignorance, superstition and cruelty.

But Young Japan, unlike the other countries, is aware of this, and is eagerly, courageously struggling upward.

So long as there are, on the one hand, collossal wealth, barbaric display, hereditary magnificences, a great army and navy, and on the other hand hordes of laborers little better than beasts of burden, multitudes of small farmers unable to make a living and driving on hopelessly into deeper and deeper debt, factory workers on starvation wages and thousands of boys and girls touched by the fire of modernity yet with not enough schools; just so long will the Revolution menace.

The one hope is in the instinct of order inbred in the people; so that the Great Change will probably come about by the normal processes of Law and Progress, as in England, and not by blood and fury, as in the French Revolution and the Bolshevik overturning.

Japan is destined to be a vast industrial island, as England; and the progress toward Democracy is always more difficult in industrial than in agricultural communities.

But the people are quick to learn, are adaptable, keen minded, courteous and above all have a strong sense of justice.

Hence we are warranted in our hope that the Coming Revolution will be a peaceable, though none the less thoroughly radical, Evolution; and that Japan will become the great Pillar of Order to the Far East, even as Great Britain is to Europe.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

FARM AND FACTORY

[Indianapolis News]

The New York Times recently showed that Senator Magnus Johnson is demanding nothing more for the farmers than the manufacturers have for many years been demanding—and getting—for themselves, that is, government help. Whatever difference there is, is in the methods employed, though the new senator is getting more and more indefinite on the subject of methods. But the principle is the same, namely, that the government should in some way make profitable a business that, it is assumed, would be unprofitable unless it were supported in part out of taxes.

The logical result of the program and policy is that all shall be protected—which means that no one will be protected. For there can be no protection except at the expense of some one else. It is the unprotected classes that furnish the protection. If the blessing is extended to all, what one man gets in the way of protection he will be forced to give to another. The net result of it all is the same as that which would follow from a general depreciation of the currency. All would get more, and all would pay more. It is from the farmers that protection has for years mostly come—the great unprotected class. It is in no way surprising that they should try to get back some of their money which has gone to the class that has got rich from their labors.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Many automobilists are being sent to jail. This seems to be the proper penalty for them. They are not, however, on the plane of other types of criminals. When a business man of repute is arrested for speeding, often he had been without intent to do wrong. He admits his fault, however, and takes his medicine with a smile.

HENRY JAMES

It is not fair that such a man, wearing clean clothes, should be held in a stenchful and verminous apartment, in intimate contact with drunks and ruffians.

Considered even in their efforts upon the habitual offender, jails are inexcusably bad. Most of them are not fit to harbor human beings. Dogs would reject them, and swine flee from them. Creatures with the filth of the gutter are placed in such places, making them worse. And to the same places are condemned offenders addicted to the use of soap.

Something ought to be done about the average jail besides jamming offenders into it. As conducted, it threatens moral and physical degradation. There is nothing about it tending to uplift community manners. Its character is such that to a clean person, incarceration there is a horrible experience, making the penalty almost uncostitutionally severe.

* * *

Perhaps Mr. Ford would be flattered were he to realize that more than half the automobiles stolen in this region come from his factory. If every thief who takes a Ford is inspired by gratitude to support the maker for president, there will be more to the Ford boom than anybody had suspected.

* * *

Extortion, that is to say, blackmail, is among the crimes too mean to be condoned. There ought to be the limit penalty in every case, and the victim be permitted to use a gun in applying it.

A policeman went into a colored dance hall to settle a quarrel. He is in the hospital. The policeman who tackles a Saturday night dance would be wise to do it by telephone.

Information is loosed that the stout feminine figure is again in style. This will do nothing to mitigate the rigors of war, only now the lean will be fighting to get back the flesh they banted off.

Statistics based on measurements taken at numerous colleges tend to show that American women of the class thus brought under observation, are growing taller and stronger. It is very cheering to learn this. So often there have been reports that women were deteriorating. Even the athletics in which they have begun to indulge have been condemned as unhealthful. In the days when tight corsets were worn, the danger involved was gravely set forth. When the corset was abolished, and woman began to enjoy bodily freedom, another school of pessimists was ready to tell them that the lack of stays meant physical decadence.

When any one affirms that American women are going backwards there is something the matter, not with them, but with him.

Chief of Police Vollmer of Los Angeles says that the courts must be watched; that they are 150 years behind the times. If not careful he will be yanked before the bar for contempt.

There are in Los Angeles county hundreds of individuals held on criminal charges. A large proportion of them should have had their trials long ago. The way in which the courts putter and fuss about technicalities utterly lacking in importance, goes far towards explaining this condition.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SO EARLY

Two little girls, scarcely four years old, were walking along the street, heads close together, absorbed in discussion. Each gripped a roll of candy done up in shiny brown paper lettered in gold.

The stout rather plain one clutched a penny in her other hand. It was soon evident that she had treated the pretty, slender one who was coaxing, "Come one! Let's spend it!"

"No—no," said the other. "Mother said bring it ho-um."

"But listen,' said the tempter. "You could buy a lot of chocolate buttons and"—dramatically, as though rooted stock still with the shock of the brilliant idea—"we could EAT them."

Not a spark from the stodgy one! "But my mother said to bring it ho-um."

"And we could sit on the park bench and eat them all up! Let's."

"Uh-hu," waggling her stury head and marching on, "but mother said to bring it ho-um."

"S'pose you LOST it. Then you'd never get any good of it! You' wish you'd spent it right away."

"Mother said I was to bring it ho-um and put it in the ba-unk."

Have you got it yet? Let me see. Maybe you've lost it."

"No. I'm holding it in my tight hand."

"If I had a penny I'd spend it and then ask my mother for another to put in the bank."

"My mother told me to take it home and I'm go-in' to." And she did.

The lovely thing about it was that she was perfectly unconscious of her righteousness, her sturdy determination to follow orders. She was taking it ho-um because mother told her to and that was all there was about it. Her mind was closed. She was deaf to the tones of the temper. Her calm decision was never slightly joggled.

I wondered about the pretty tempter. I wondered why she wanted to spend the penny for more candy when each of them held a roll of it untouched. Was she trying her power over the other or was she just greedy? Or What? What instinct was at work in her alert mind?

They both went into the house across the street and I didn't find out.

EDUCATION AS PEACE ELEMENT

The newly elected president of the National Education Association, Miss Olive Jones, returned to New York yesterday from the association's great convention just held in California. The "N. E. A.," as every educator knows, is a great body of teachers and educational officers thoroughly organized all over the country for the purposes of education. The American Peace Award has therefore felt it to be of the greatest importance to have the cooperation of this great body both in getting the conditions of the award before its members and especially in assisting in the popular referendum on the winning plan next January.

Miss Jones said yesterday at the offices of the American Peace Award:

"It is peculiarly appropriate this year that the National Education association should be included in the organizations which have agreed to cooperate. Not only do teachers inevitably recognize and feel deeply the relation between their own life work of teaching and peace, but this year the National Educational association had as an important part of its convention in July a World Conference on Education, made up of educators from 50 different nations.

"During the sessions of the World Conference, the question of peace, the means of bringing about permanent peace, and the discussion of questions intimately related with the securing of permanent peace, were introduced so frequently into the discussion of educational questions, that it often became necessary to remind the delegates that it was a conference on education and not a conference on peace. Without exception, the educators from these 50 nations testified to the desire of their people for peace. They stressed the fact that without peace it would be impossible to bring to fruition the hopes of popular education, the ideals of training for citizenship, and the ideals of character development which all agreed to be the first aim of education.

"I cannot, at this moment, state the definite ways in which the National Education association can help in the American Peace Award. The association is a strongly organized body, acting through a delegate assembly which makes the policies which govern the acts of its officers. The delegate assembly has had no opportunity to decide the extent or the manner of cooperation. Nevertheless, I know so positively the temper of mind of that delegate assembly that I have no hesitancy in saying that the National Education association will cooperate and that when the executive committee meets in the early fall it will decide definitely what practical concrete form its cooperation will take.

"Among the resolutions passed by the delegate assembly of the National Education association at the annual convention, a resolution was adopted which reads, in part:

"'We believe that we can most surely promote a lasting spirit of good fellowship throughout the world by taking advantage of appropriate opportunities to tell the coming generation of the good qualities and useful achievements of other nations as well as our own. Humanity is one. Injury to one nation or race involves injury to all, just as the proper growth of one nation or race carries with it an advantage to all mankind.'

"I think it will be readily seen that the sentiment of this resolution is in absolute harmony with the aims and purposes of the American Peace Award."

The National Education association makes the forty-sixth organization that is cooperating with the American Peace Award. These include every kind of organization in the country—The American Academy of Political and Social Science, the National Industrial Council, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, all the great women's organizations, including the National League of Women Voters, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Council of Jewish Women, the National Women's Trade Union League; the Rotary International, the United Society of Christian Endeavor, the General Conference of the Society of Friends, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and many others in the civic and industrial field.

He represents the fraternal department of the American Federation of Labor at the British Trade Unions' conference, which meets September 3.

Tells Sufferers How to End Piles Forever

Rochester Doctor Achieves Remarkable Success with New Prescription. Must Give Absolute Relief or Money Back.

It has remained for a well known Rochester doctor to find a real remedy for Piles. Years of patient, painstaking effort on his part has resulted in a prescription that will actually heal Piles and absorb them never to return.

This doctor says no man or woman need suffer another hour from any pain arising from Hemorrhoids or Piles now that he has made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription known as MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES for a moderate price on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

You'll be amazed to see how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in an hour; even in cases of long standing with profuse bleeding really wonderful results have been accomplished.—Adv.

EUGENE O'BRIEN AT MASON THEATER

The attraction at the Mason opera house, Los Angeles, starting Monday, August 27, will be the celebrated romantic actor, Eugene O'Brien, in a new comedy-drama entitled "Steve." The presentation is under the direction of Geo. M. Gatts and comes here direct from a remarkable run of five months at the Princess theater, Chicago, where it was acclaimed "the foremost dramatic offering of the season." Mr. O'Brien has acted "Steve" in the principal cities of the east, breaking records everywhere. His appearance in this play marks Mr. O'Brien's return to the speaking stage after an absence of several years which were spent in making moving pictures.

The countless thousands of movie fans who have never seen their favorite in person are anxious to see the popular hero in real life and hear his melodious voice, which in a measure accounts for theaters being thronged wherever Mr. O'Brien appears. This young actor was a finished stage artist before he entered the movies, having played leading parts in the productions of David Belasco, during which time he acquired a thorough knowledge of stage technique. The experience gained under the direction of the great Belasco admirably fitted this magnetic young player for the screen drama and it is little wonder that his name became a household word shortly after his first picture was presented. However, Mr. O'Brien could not resist the call of the spoken drama and he returned to his first love.

EAR TRAINING

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

Of special interest to many middle-aged and elderly persons and to the many persons of all ages whose hearing has been somewhat impaired as a sequel to influenza or other infection, is the fact that much may at times be done to improve the hearing through methods of ear training.

Of course, this does not mean that recourse to medical advice and aid should be neglected. Not infrequently hearing impairment is the result of unsuspected and trivial conditions—such as a plug of wax in the ear—which need only to be removed in order for hearing to be completely restored.

And still more frequently, particularly following throat infections, expert treatment of the ears is imperatively needed to avert a progressive deafness. In such cases, even though the hearing be saved, it may happen that some weakness of hearing remains despite the ear specialist's best efforts.

It is for such cases, as for cases of hearing impairment due not to any specific disease but merely to advancing age, that ear training is recommended by, for example, Dr. J. Madison Taylor, who stresses the importance of exercising the extrinsic muscles of the ear and of endeavoring to restore elasticity to the tissues of the neck, the jaws and the ear structure.

He would have the semi-deaf, for a few minutes daily, practice such exercises as:

Making active movements of the jaws, opening them widely and moving them from side to side, forward and back.

Making active movements of the neck, to the right and left. Also, thrusting the chin forward each time, then "chinning up," forward and back.

Seizing the back of the head with hands clasped, bending forward and downward, then resisting to push the hands back with the head (neck muscles), repeating this five or six times, with slightly increasing force each time.

In addition to these exercises, Dr. Taylor advocates cultivation to the habit of occasionally listening with uncommon intentness to slight sounds. He remarks:

"The extrinsic muscles of the ear, according to Duchenne, are capable of reflex contraction under ordinary conditions, and the action can be reinforced by voluntary effort. The act of listening intently stimulates the activity of these muscles."

Hence:

"Reflex movements are to be encouraged by such means as listening to the ticking of a watch and very gradually increasing the distance. The sustained effort of listening seems to exalt the auditory sensibility, whether from a succession of sound waves—which might not happen in the case of a single excitation—or because the extrinsic muscles of the ear assist.

"A defective ear must be encouraged and the tendency to listen always with the better ear avoided."

If such exercises as the above are helpful in remedying a condition of impaired hearing, it would seem to follow that they ought to be likewise helpful in preventing the common condition of a weakening in auditory power as life progresses toward old age. It may be stated as more than a suspicion that not a few people permit their hearing to diminish by sheer neglect of really attentive listening.

Turks Honor Woman Who Fought in Army

[By Associated Press]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 23.—Turkey's only woman officer has resigned her commission in the army and was received on retirement at a public audience by the Caliph. The woman is Lieut. Kara-Fatma Hanem, about 45 years old and the widow of a Turkish major. Together with 15 female relatives, she joined the army at the beginning of the Great war.

Lieut. Kara-Fatma Hanem was wounded and taken to a hospital. After her recovery she returned to active service and was taken prisoner by the Greeks. She escaped to take part in the battle of Broussa, when she was accompanied by her 13-year-old daughter.

This female warrior now declares that her task is over and her request for discharge was allowed by the authorities who, however, have granted her an honorary commission as captain.

Curing your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

Dear Sir: Will you give me a few pointers on how the shoulders ought to work in making a full stroke? What I am trying to get at is this: I have read that there is danger of several different kinds of trouble if the right shoulder is allowed to drop on the downswing. At the same time in watching a number of good golfers play, I notice that nearly all of them swing the right shoulder under in swinging through with the club. If you can explain what ought to take place, it will be appreciated.
W. H. K.

Answer: What you have been warned against is dropping the right shoulder on the downswing, which is usually due to ducking the right knee, and is altogether different from making the right shoulder sweep under in hitting through the ball. This latter action is necessary, if you hit through properly.

What takes place, or should take place, in a full swing is this: In addressing the ball, the right shoulder is slightly lower than the left by necessity, due to the fact that the right hand is placed further down the shaft. On the backswing the shoulders work on a kind of rocker motion at the same time skewing around toward the right. If you pivot properly, the right shoulder is bound to be a bit higher than the left at the top of the swing.

Then when you make the forward swing, the shoulders skew back toward the left and at the same time the rocker motion again takes place, the left coming up and the right dipping down.

But in performing these operations, you must be careful, as you have been warned, not to let the right shoulder make any abrupt drop. The surest method of preventing this is to keep the right leg straight. Keeping the head stationary of course keeps the shoulder from dropping, but the action of the right leg is largely responsible at that stage for keeping it from moving up or down.

On one occasion Nat Goodwin was sitting in a cafe with some friends. Among others at the next table was a loud individual who had once been introduced to the famous actor. He wanted to make people think he was well acquainted with a celebrity. Accordingly he interlarded his conversation with incessant appeals to Goodwin.

"Isn't that so, Goodwin?" Or, "Don't you think so, Goodwin? And so on.

Goodwin stood this awhile and then responded: "My dear sir, either call me Mr. Goodwin or call me Nat."

1000 HOMELESS IN COLO. FLOOD

[By Associated Press]

FOWLER, Colo., Aug. 23.—Approximately 1000 persons are homeless today and damage estimated at $1,000,000 has been done by flood waters which rushed down the valleys of the Apishapa and Arkansas rivers yesterday and today following the breaking of an irrigation project dam near here.

Five hundred persons have moved out of the danger zone in north La Junta, according to word received here, and approximately that number fled from their homes in the valley below the dam. Observers saw a dozen houses and many bodies of cattle and horses as well as huge trees, tumbling along on the crest of the water from the dam which broke yesterday.

When the dam washed out, a wall of water 25 feet high swept down the channel of the Apishapa river, then spread out over a territory a mile wide. As it spread out the depth decreased to four or five feet, observers said, but took tree houses and livestock in its path. The wall of water swept the valley from the dam which is 36 miles south of Fowler, to the junction of the Apishapa and the Arkansas river three miles east of here traveling five miles an hour. Then it swelled the flood in the Arkansas, which, because of recent rains, which, because of recent rains to a point near that attained during the disastrous Pueblo flood of June, 1921. The city of Fowler is not in the path of the flood.

Crops in the lowlands for many miles along both rivers have been destroyed, it is declared.

The flood resulted from the washing out of the huge earthen retaining wall of the Apishapa river dam. The dam, built two years ago, was erected between the rock walls of a canyon. Erected on a concrete base, the earthen dike was 600 feet long, 86 feet high and about 100 feet thick. Including the concrete foundation, the dike was 100 feet high and at the time of its collapse the impounded water was 80 feet deep and was dammed up for a distance of seven miles.

WATERS REACH SOUTH COLORADO AT LA JUNTA

[By Associated Press]

LA JUNTA, Colo., Aug. 23.—Flood waters rushing down the Arkansas river following the breaking of an irrigation project dam near Fowler, late yesterday reached La Junta at 8 o'clock this morning. The river rose gradually.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the high water began tearing away the approach to the north La Junta bridge. The waters had not yet reached the floor of the West La Junta bridge at that time, however.

Residents along the river bottom warned of the near approach of the high water, took refuge on higher ground, in some instances taking their household goods with them.

The river at present is about one half mile wide and it is spreading rapidly over the lowlands along its banks. The river here has not yet approached the high stage set two years ago in the disastrous flood which swept the Arkansas valley.

JAMES W. FOLEY

LIFE

The little things of every day, the coming and the going;
The good by at the morning and the greeting at the eve;
The birds that chatter in the trees, the fragrant breezes blowing;
The hopes we cherish gladly and the daily dreams we weave.

The simple things of daily life; the planning and the doing;
The loving arms about us and the kiss upon the cheek;
The daily round of greeting and rejoicing and of ruing.
The songs we sing and dreams we dream and kindly words we speak.

The blossoming of bush and hedge; the lane where shadows coming;
The birds that build their nests in trees and twitter through the gloam;
The simple prayer of thanks and grace; the friendly school boys chumming;
The leaving of the well done task and then the coming home.

The faith that love shall bring its joy; the plucking of a flower;
The laughter of the children as they run and shout and play;
A wonder of the earth and sea and sky some twilight hour,
And night and sleep and rest and every trouble put away.

The simple things of every day; the loving and the wooing,
The planning and the building and the spire that softly gleams
With hope for all the days to come; the daily tasks for doing,
The loves, the joys, the sobs, the tears, the hopes, the tasks and dreams.

LONDON MARKS ITS FAMOUS SPOTS

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Visitors to places of interest in the city, and many Londoners themselves, have been surprised lately to find numerous blue plaques with white letters on walls of buildings. These are being put up by the City Council to mark the sites of ancient London, and the residences of famous citizens.

One of the most recent ones marks the spot in Cheapside from which the Romans measured their miles from London. Residences of Chaucer, Keats, Shakespeare, Pepys and other prominent citizens of the olden days also have been designated.

ARTHUR CAMPBELL REPORTS ON FISH

Arthur Campbell is the author of some wonderful stories about a recent ocean fishing trip which he took over the week-end with a party of friends off the Redondo and Hermosa coast. His family is spending the month at Manhattan. On the trip, he declares there was not a minute in which there was not something doing in the way of catching fish. Three fishermen, he reports, caught two sacksful of various kinds of fish including mackerel, barracuda, etc.

As to his real estate activities, to which he returned refreshed by the outing, "business is exceptionally good," he reports and "a lot of people are coming in from various parts of the country and buying in Glendale."

BAR ALIENS, IS PLEA OF CURRY

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 22.—There is no possibility of Americanizing the Japanese now in Hawaii who were born in Japan, and aliens who are ineligible to citizenship should be excluded from the islands in the future, according to opinions expressed here by Representative Charles F. Curry of California. Mr. Curry is chairman of the house committee on territories, and he has been investigating conditions in the islands for the last month.

Nearly all of the Japanese and other orientals here who are educated in the common schools are to a great extent Americanized, with the exception of those who come under the alien influence in the language schools, but that influence is counteracted to a great degree by their contact with American teachers in American schools, he added.

"Orientals who come to Hawaii under the law should continue to receive fair and square treatment, but an immediate stop should be placed upon the bringing in of the so-called 'picture brides,'" he said.

Orientals who abandon Buddhism or other religions of Asia should be encouraged by their Christian friends."

Referring to the future of the territory, he declared that Hawaii's outstanding problem is to keep the islands American, but "there is no reason why Hawaii should have a commission form of government under existing conditions." In giving his impressions of the industries of the territory, Mr. Curry stated there is not much of a labor shortage in the islands; that there is no other place in the world where labor is treated as well; that the sugar industry has not been developed to the limit; that the present annual production of canned pineapples could be doubled if sufficient care were taken; and that the Japanese monopoly of commercial fishing should be stopped.

He emphasized the need of military and naval preparedness for Hawaii, with the remark that "you have about 13,000 enlisted men here; you ought to have twice that many." Congressman Curry, after an investigation of the homestead lands on the island of Molokai, where the homes commission is endeavoring to rehabilitate the Hawaiian race, said that the project is sound and should be continued.

During his visit, Congressman Curry was made a member of the Daughters and Sons of Hawaiian Warriors, "because he had exhibited true friendship for Hawaii and the Hawaiians and has aided the islands for many years," and also because of his close relationship with the late Prince Jonah Kuhio Kalanianaole.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Hentschke and two children, Lois and Rita, of Redlands, were visitors Monday and Tuesday at the home of their cousin, Mrs. Harry W. Chase, 1470 East Wilson.

RHEUMATISM
LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

—A— and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Allenrhu relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.
